

Don't Presume that Zoom is all Gloom and Doom!

If you are having a celebration but can't have everyone together for a party, now you can do it the socially distanced way. Each of your guests gets their own party food and then you can all celebrate virtually using Zoom (or any of the other video options). I'll deliver all the boxes to you, you distribute them to your friends and relatives, then at the agreed time - It's Party Time!

You can choose exactly what you would like to share - traditional afternoon tea is popular, but it could also be a picnic meze, a selection of canapés, brunch nibbles, or a menu of your own choosing. Dietary requirements are fully catered for.

There is a minimum order of 10 boxes, but after that - how many little boxes can you get on the Zoom screen?
